A-Blast Below Ground

Small Atomic Bomb Is Fired 800 Feet Beneath Desert Floor, Trace Shock Waves

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A small atomic bomb was fired today in a chamber 800 feet beneath a desert mesa. Its earthquake-like shock waves are expected to tell scientists much that is new about the globe we live on. And it may show the way to "safe" testing of some types of nuclear weapons.

The explosion at 10 a. m. was the 21st of the summer test series and the first full-scale underground shot in history. Two near-surface blasts were fired in 1951. In the gambling town of Las Vegas, 90 miles away, no effects were noticed.

Scientists at 600 quake-wave recording stations around the world were awaiting the test and will pool their readings to determine new facts about how the earth is put together.

Waves from the blast are expected to race not only through the earth's thin crust but into its very core.

The bomb, with a force equivalent to 1,000 to 3,000 tons of TNT, was at the end of a zigzagging 2,000-foot tunnel under a mesa.

Though small, it still was expected to vaporize the outer layer of stone on the walls of its chamber and shatter nearby rock.

As expected, there were no visible surface effects. The man-made quake was not felt by observers at the control point 2½ miles distant.

Estimates beforehand were that some slight earth trembling would be felt at this distance.

NATO Forces To Hold Mock Sub Battle

ABOARD U. S. S. FORRESTAL (F)—The seven-nation fleet participating in a complex NATO naval exercise rushed preparations today for an anticipated simulated battle with "enemy" submarines.

The ships are participating in Operation Strikeback, designed to work out ways of keeping the Atlantic open in case of a Soviet attack.

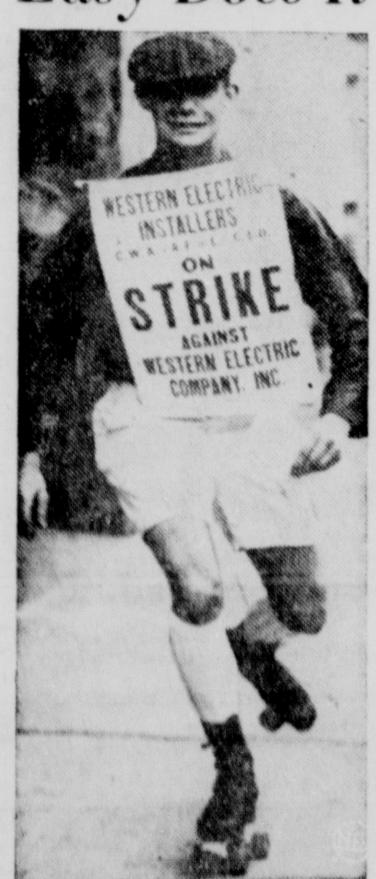

Surface ships of various sizes loaded supplies in an open sea transfer before the submarine raiders had a chance to strike. The carrier Forrestal took board 200,000 pounds of food and other supplies from a wallowing Navy cargo ship. The cargo was sent over on cables stretched between the ships.

Restless destroyers prowled on the flanks of the carriers, battleships and cruisers, their sonars listening for the tell-tale noise of submarines which might be lurking below the waves.

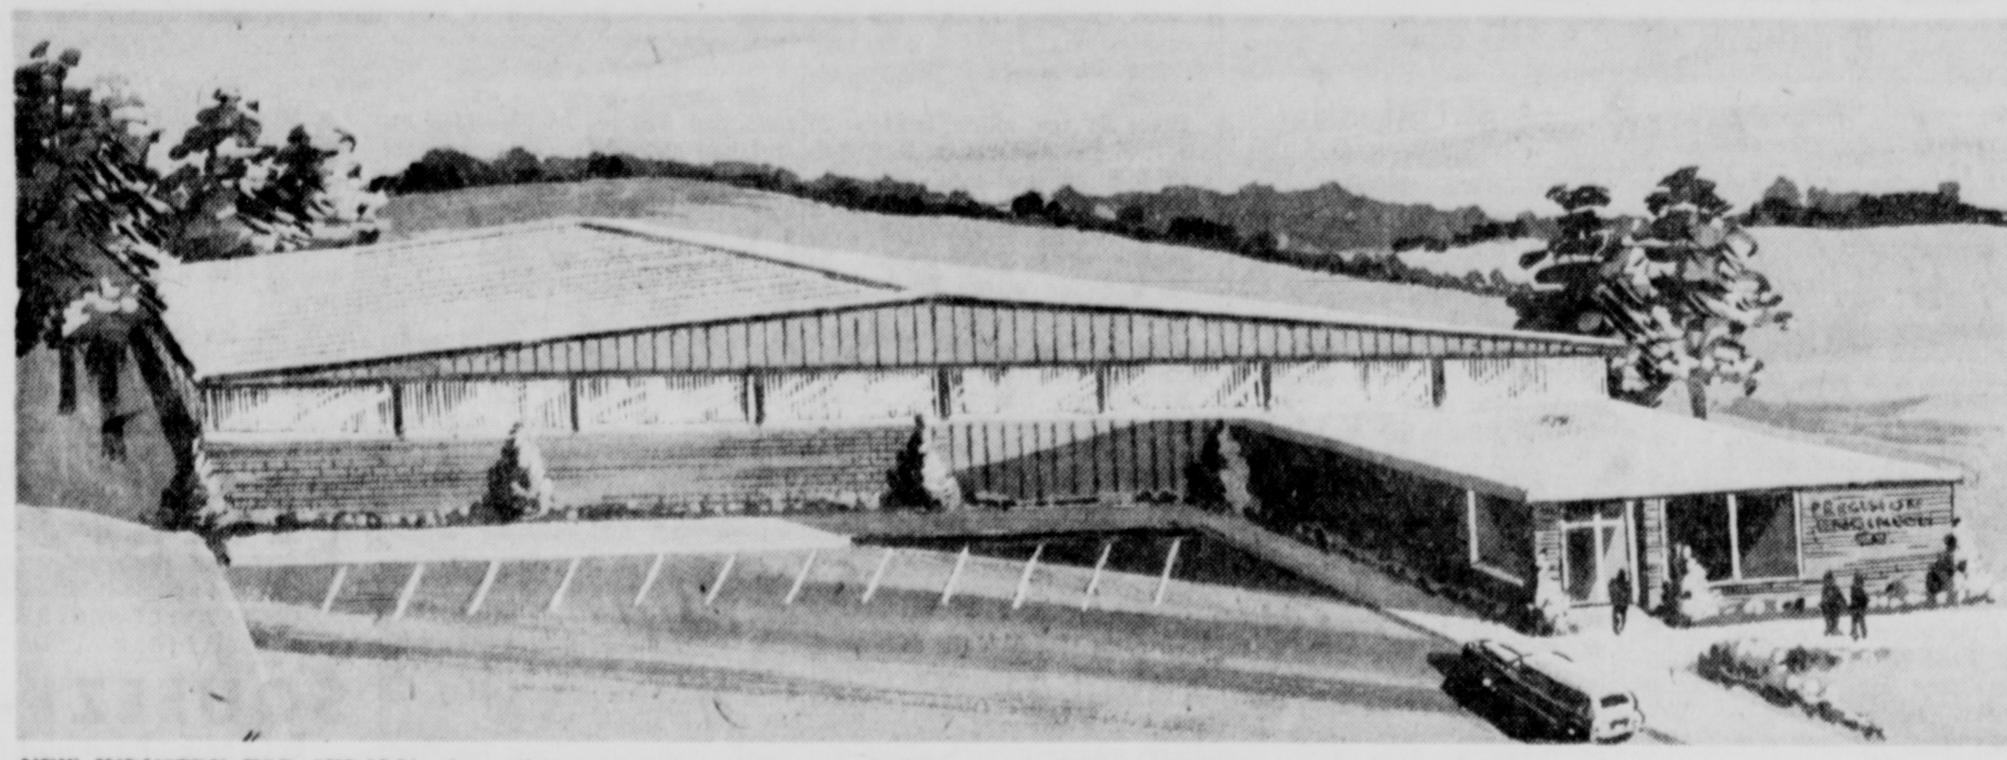

Any prospect that the carrier force could steal past the enemy submarine barrier under cover of a storm faded when good weather was predicted for tomorrow.

Weather men, however, thought the fleet might encounter the remains of Hurricane Carrie sometime during the next few days. But the Caribbean-born storm had faded into mere gusty weather during its progress up from southern latitudes.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR SEDALIA—An artist's conception of the new building to house Precision Engineering Co. The first of its type to be built in Central Missouri, the 80 by 142 foot main plant will have no center support columns. The entire floor space will be completely open with no obstructions to limit the placing of machines for production work, as well as allowing more freedom in handling of heavy materials. The main plant will have no windows but will have a four-foot light panel at the top of the wall on both sides and the front of the building. An office addition of 1000 square feet will be built at the front of the main building and connected to it. The walls will be constructed with Haydite blocks with the exception of the west end wall, which will be of steel insulated panels. The steel construction of this wall will allow easy expansion of the building by moving the end wall to a new position.

Plastics Firm From Iowa Will Be First New Industry to Be Set Up in Industrial Park

A new industry for Sedalia was announced today by the industrial division of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Precision Engineering Co., of Maquoketa, Ia., will be the first industry to be located in Sedalia's new Industrial Park. The new operation will be housed in a new building containing approximately 12,500 square feet of floor space, and will be built on a five-acre site at the extreme north end of the new Industrial Park.

The company plans to move to Sedalia as soon as the new building is ready for occupancy. Initial employment will be around 35, with the total expected to rise to approximately 125 in the future, according to a statement by the company president.

Precision Engineering is presently engaged in precision production machine work on a contract basis, doing work for such companies as Clinton Machine Co., National Engineering and Manufacturing Co., Lawson Motors, Power Products Co. and the AMPCO Co. in Springfield, N.J. At Sedalia, a moulded plastics operation will be added.

The industrial division of the Missouri Division of Resources and Development was instrumental in first attracting Precision Engineering Co. to the state of Missouri, and assisted the company in securing a location.

The president and owner of Precision Engineering is Charles T. Reisdorph, 36. Born in Aberdeen, S.D., he left that city at the age of 16 to work at the old Stetman Co. plant which was the predecessor company to Boeing Aircraft Co. Working as a machinist, he rose to supervising foreman for North American Aviation Co. for 3½ years prior to his service in the Army during World War II. Following World War II he set up a contracting company

Young Doctor Announces Cold Vaccine

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old Johns Hopkins scientist today held the attention of the medical world— as well as sneezers and sniffers everywhere—with disclosure he has developed an effective vaccine for the common cold.

Dr. Winston H. Price of the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health said that:

1. He has succeeded in isolating the first "true" virus of the common cold—one responsible for 30 per cent of the cases he has studied over a two-year period.

2. He has developed a vaccine which, in controlled tests on more than 400 persons, prevented colds caused by the "JH virus" in 80 per cent of the cases.

The possibility of mass-producing the vaccine is very good, Dr. Price indicated, although he begged off answering any questions about commercial production.

"I know nothing about that at all," he said. "I'm a medical researcher. I will make nothing out of this whatsoever."

But he said the JH virus has been sent to other laboratories and they have been able to cultivate it using the methods developed here.

Immunity is produced from two shots, the second following the first by four weeks, Dr. Price said. He could not say how long the immunity would last.

He said the vaccine was made from killed JH virus and had produced no symptoms, discomfort or side effects.

No Immediate Danger

US Chemists Rush to Scene Where Poison Was Spilled

THAMESVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Chemists from the United States were rushed to this western Ontario community today to help clean up 25,000 pounds of sodium cyanide which spilled along the Canadian National Railways tracks here early today following a train-truck collision.

The shipment was from a DuPont plant in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and was passing through Ontario in bound for Detroit.

A DuPont of Canada spokesman in Toronto said there was no immediate danger to persons in the Thamesville area from the sodium cyanide because it does not give off lethal fumes. He said rain, reported falling today on the spilled chemical, would not readily affect the chemical to make it dangerous. Its main danger was in drinking water, he said.

Police, civil defense workers, chemists and citizens pitched in today to clean up the chemical. The DuPont spokesman said the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., parent of the Canadian firm, dispatched an official from Detroit early today to advise on cleanup operations. He said another DuPont official, an expert in cyanide, was being sent from Niagara Falls.

Truck driver J. C. Sluder of Wayne, Mich., was injured when a CNR passenger train bound from Toronto to Windsor sliced into his tractor-trailer, owned by Truck Transport Co. Ltd., of Dearborn, Mich., at a crossing inside the village on Highway No. 2.

Kieles was sentenced to the stockade for four months, reduced in rank to private and fined $70 of his pay for each month of confinement.

Like the others, he was an NCO of Co. I, 39th Infantry Regiment. The company commander, Capt. John Webb, has been assigned to a non-command job. His involvement in the charges is under investigation.

Kieles was convicted of having ordered a trainee leader, Pvt. Uell Williams, 23, Chicago, to strike Pvt. Bobby Yarber, 21, Utica, Mich., and Pvt. Raymond Wilson, 22, Battle, Kan.

He also was convicted of having forced Yarber and Pvt. Ervin D. Young, 23, Caruthersville, Mo., to wear boots filled with rocks around their necks for two days as a disciplinary measure.

The defendant, who has been in the army for nearly four years, admitted he ordered the privates to wear the boots "because that was the most efficient way of carrying them." He told the court the privates had wanted the boots close to them, but both Yarber and Young denied this.

The evening session will begin with dinner at 6:15 p.m. and will conclude with an address by Robert E. Rosewald, Kansas City, an attorney and past president of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare and its unique problems and opportunities will be led by J. H. Stokes, chief of the bureau of research and statistics, Division of Welfare, Jefferson City, and Dr. Oren Reudi, professor of sociology, Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield. This workshop will be slanted to what can be done on the local level in providing a useful, busy and happy life for the aging segment of our population.

A covered dish luncheon was served to the Friendship Class of Wesley Methodist Church Thursday afternoon to begin the new year.

The Rev. Niles gave the devotional. Forty members attended. A collection for the Crippled Children's Center was taken.

The meeting closed with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Crippled Ship Righted

HONOLULU—The typhoon-crippled Liberian freighter Cygnet headed due east today, hoping to avoid another storm.

The ship, listing at 15 degrees and in danger of floundering yesterday, was righted when the fuel tanks were ballasted. It was damaged by Typhoon Delta midway between Japan and Hawaii.

The Coast Guard cutter Bering Strait is accompanying it to Japan.

The ship's bridge was nearly demolished and the foredeck slightly buckled by the storm.

Sorosis Learns Value Of Hobby From Dr. Galatas

"Antics of an Antiquer" was the species in his will that the subject chosen by Dr. Clinton B. Galatas, pastor of the Methodist church in Marshall for his talk collection of books given to a college library and the books were to be arranged on the college library shelf in a certain way. The collection was not to be added to or taken away from. Once a year a check was to be made by another college and that college was to be given a chart. If the collection was not exactly like the chart they would then be given the collection. Another collector gained immortality by putting his picture in each book.

There is too much tension in the modern generation, Dr. Galatas told his audience. Men are growing old too soon and are dying too young. People should find something to relieve their tension, he said, and one of the best things is to find a good hobby. There is no better hobby than collecting, he added.

An antiquer himself, he asked: What kind of a person is an antiquer who has a house already too full and keeps on buying antiques? Has an attic full of stuff they won't get rid of? Is envious of other people over what they have?

Collecting, he said, is for the athlete or cripple, old or young, king or poor man, people in all walks of life collect things, millions of them. There are 7½ million people who indulge in stamp collecting alone. He told of the fabulous amounts paid for stamp collections and even for just one stamp. In a small town, one time, Dr. Galatas said, the stamps did not arrive from England in time and so the town ran out of stamps.

They printed some, just a few, and they were off color. Long afterward a small boy found one of the stamps in an attic and he sold it for six shillings to a dealer who sold it for $700. It was a one-cent stamp, Dr. Galatas explained, but it was resold until a man finally paid $40,000 to add it to his collection. His wife, commented Dr. Galatas, probably fussed about him spending so much money for stamps, but when he died, during the depression, that stamp collection gave her an estate which she wouldn't have had without it.

People start collecting in childhood, the speaker said. Children collect turtles, stamps, beetles, bird eggs, picture postcards, all kinds of things and there is more enjoyment in their collecting, he pointed out, because there is no thought of the monetary value of the collection. It is collecting just for fun.

Many art collectors and collectors of other things who have great wealth have someone employed to look for rare and valuable paintings or whatever their collection might be, not because they are interested, particularly, Dr. Galatas said, but they get fun out of owning the art. The monetary value or because these collections are coveted by other people makes them want to collect these things.

People in the lower brackets, though, Dr. Galatas believes, have more fun because they look for the things they collect themselves.

A fine collection, he said, may be a liability to descendants, now, because of taxes. For this reason and others, collections are often given to libraries, colleges, organizations and various other places.

Sometimes, Galatas said, the collector even wants to keep a finger on the collection after death and he lives.

About Town

Mrs. Walter Burnett, Fresno, Calif., a former Sedalian, is here for a visit and is the house guest of Mrs. Walter Maness, 300 East Fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Shank, of Camdenton, were visitors in Sedalia Tuesday. A member of the Gideons, he is president of the Lake of the Ozarks Camp, the Gideons International.

Lloyd Carleton Shank is a poet and has recently published a book of poems, "Friendly Fireside Poems" which he dedicated to his wife, children and grandchildren.

The book has 128 poems, many with a deep religious feeling which seem to be so much a part of the man himself, love for his family, little human things and beauty he has found in life. It was published by The John A. Hertel Co., Chicago, Ill.

Shank's poems are frequently published in the Camdenton newspaper and have gained him so much recognition that he was asked to give the commencement address at Climax Springs this spring and has been asked to address several groups in the area in which he lives.

At Launching Station

MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. — A red and white missile believed to be the now superseded Navajo was fired from here yesterday, possibly with Asst. Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles as a witness.

The needle-nosed projectile soared southward over the Atlantic after a fiery takeoff. News men who watched the launching said it appeared to be ground it was not so far advanced as the Snark.

The Air Force, however, planned to keep on firing the Navajos it had on hand for test purposes.

Quarles was here on what the Defense Department called a bus- man's holiday.

Writer Fired After Feud With Duchess

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System has dismissed author Cleveland Amory as the writer of a television program about the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in the wake of differences between him and the duchess over her autobiography. A CBS spokesman said:

"This step was taken in view of widespread comment on the background of Mr. Amory's supposed differences with the duke and duchess, which we feel has created a climate of opinion prejudicial to the program."

After the dismissal was announced yesterday, Amory said: "CBS couldn't have been nicer in 'uninviting' me to a party. They offered to pay me in full for the script, although I haven't written a line. I have no ill feeling toward CBS. The only explanation they gave me was that the change resulted from 'pressure from above...'"

CBS would not answer a newsmen's question whether the duke or duchess might have issued a protest to the network.

Henry G. Walter, Jr., lawyer and New York representative for the Windsors, said he was not aware of any protest against Amory's assignment. Walter added, however, that CBS was alerted some time ago to the fact that the Windsors had not given permission for the use of any copyrighted material on a television program. Walter said CBS replied by letter and explained that the TV program would be prepared from "news clips" and not copyrighted material.

The Windsors are in Europe. The background of the dismissal goes back to 1955 when the duchess engaged him to collaborate with her in the writing of her memoirs. They broke up part way through the project, and Amory was replaced.

Associates of the duchess suggested then that Amory's work was not satisfactory.

Amory's explanation was: "I will omit but I will not distort... You can't make the Duchess of Windsor into Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm. The facts of life are stubborn things."

Yesterday, CBS said a staff writer would be assigned to write the narrative for the documentary film about the Windsors.

Unexpected Job

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dick Foy, second cook on the English freighter Manchester Vanguard, stepped ashore here for a brief leave and found himself caught up in the swirl of commercial music.

Foy, 21, who plays the guitar and sings, stopped at a pub and soon was entertaining the customers. One of the patrons thought he had something extra and took him to booking agent Tony Murmek—who agreed.

After stops at a barber and haberdasher, Dick found himself at a recording studio where he cut half a dozen records.

"Only in America could this happen," said the excited Foy as he returned to his ship to wait and see what will happen.

For Cases Like China Trip

State Department Drafting
Get Tough Rules on Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is streamlining its passport rules so it can deal more effectively with cases like the 42 young Americans who went to Red China without permission.

A yearlong survey by the State and Justice departments has resulted in these tentative decisions, subject to approval by Secretary of State Dulles:

1. Make clear that the department no longer believes the secretary of state has unlimited power to give or take away a passport.

2. Assure that whenever a passport is taken away, the American citizen involved will be given a full, prompt hearing.

3. Provide realistic penalties, varied enough to fit the different degrees of infractions. The only penalty now provided for violation of the regulations is a four-year jail sentence or a $2,000 fine.

4. Make administrative changes to speed up handling of passport disputes.

The changes are expected to be made within a few months, as soon as Dulles approves them.

A number of court cases in recent years have ruled that the secretary's discretion over issuing passports is not unlimited, and that passport holders have a right to an early and fair hearing.

However, the courts have never ruled on the secretary's asserted right to deny passports on the ground that such action was in the foreign policy interests of the United States.

A test case is shaping up. This is expected to be filed by William Worthy, reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American.

Worthy's application for a new passport was rejected by the Department yesterday. The main reason was that he had gone to Red China last December despite the department's ban on such travel and that he asserted he would do it again.

The department dealt more lightly yesterday with the 42 Americans who went to Red China this year in defiance of the ban. Their passports were ordered seized whenever they emerged from Red China, but they were given 60 days to appeal and state their cases before a hearing board.

The department's attitude seemed to be that no great harm had been done even though the rule was broken. Officials said they felt it highly unrealistic even to consider a four-year jail sentence or $2,000 fine under the circumstances.

These officials suggested that such cases might be dealt with in other ways. One idea was to suspend the passports for a short period, perhaps two or three years, just as driver's licenses are suspended for traffic violations.

Associate Provides
Bail for John Kasper;
Trial in November

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—As attendance at Nashville's five integrated grammar schools climbed back to normal, John Kasper ended his one-week stay in jail and left Nashville yesterday.

A White Citizens Council associate of Kasper, Lee Foster of Knoxville, Tenn., provided the $2,500 bail.

Kasper's Nashville attorney Montague Ross said the roving segregationist would stay out of town until Nov. 18, the date for his trial here on a charge of inciting to riot.

Kasper told newsmen he had no comment on his plans, but the lawyer said he probably would go to Washington, D.C. Nashville detectives followed him out of the city.

5-Year-Old Is Happy
After Father Takes Him From Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Five-year-old Michael Maida is happy now. His daddy does want him.

Michael was taken to Bellevue Hospital Tuesday with superficial knife wounds of the back and hand. Police said his mother Mrs. Catherine Maida, 28, stabbed him. She was sent to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Michael's parents have been separated about four years and recently divorced. The boy has seldom seen his dad but never forgot him.

In the hospital Tuesday, Michael sobbed: "My daddy don't want me. Now my mommy don't love me."

His father Salvatore Maida, 30, arrived and took his son home with him.

Outlines Policy

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP)—James L. Robertson didn't pay much attention to the fact that the $1,000 insurance policy he took out in 1954 would be payable at face value if he lived until he was 96.

FOR THE SECOND HEAD?—Without bothering with tire-some explanations, a West Berlin, Germany, firm has introduced this double-decker umbrella as the latest thing in overhead protection for the fair sex. Frilled and fancy, it's called "Double chute with fringes."

Top Plowmen
Start 2-Day
Competition

PEEBLES, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-seven men from 14 nations pitted skill and machinery against the tricky soil of Ohio's hill-dotted Adams County today in the start of a two-day test to pick the best plowman in the world.

This match is the big one in the annual World Conservation Exposition and plowing Contest, being held in the United States for the first time in its five-year history.

From it will emerge two champions.

One will be the man who accumulates the most points for the way his tractor and plowshares turn over the earth in two half-acre plots, one of stubble and the other of sod.

The other is a cinch to be the plow, unchallenged as the basic tool of agriculture from the time a primitive human first scratched at the earth with a pointed stick, to today's age of mechanization.

In the Ohio state and national contests preceding the world matches, the divisions were level land and contour. However, contour plowing is not a factor in the world event because the foreign entrants have little occasion to use it at home.

Another difference is in the time allotted to the competitors. With the same half-acre plot the state and national limits ranged from 33 minutes to 74 minutes, depending upon the number and size of the plow bottoms.

In the world contest the time allotment is 2½ hours for stubble plowing; three hours for sod plowing.

Lawrence Goettmoller, Celina, Ohio, one of the two American contestants, qualified in the national level land matches last year for the 1957 world event here.

He repeated yesterday as national level land champion, thereby becoming eligible for the 1958 world contest. His world teammate this year is John C. Daniels of Mulberry Grove, Ill., a national winner in 1956.

Duane Mootz of Hillsboro, Ohio, won the national contour contest yesterday and also qualified for the 1958 world matches.

Proposed Mercy Group
Henri Dunant, a Swiss, proposed an international mercy organization in 1862. His proposal led to the Geneva Conference of 1864, at which the Red Cross was started.

Ice Cream Social Success at Washington

The ice cream social held at Washington School cafeteria Wednesday night was a huge success. Two thousand tickets were sold and the crowd attending was somewhere between 1,500 and 2,000 persons.

In addition to the ice cream and cake — coffee, sodapop and pie were also sold.

The social was sponsored by the Washington PTA of which Mrs. William Garrett is president and Mrs. W. M. Petree, budget finance chairman, who was in charge of the social. The job was well accomplished by the combined efforts of all members.

Miss Bessie Perkins is principal of the school.

The money from the social will go toward purchasing a new curtain for the stage.

Knotty Pine Paneling

Coffee Pot Cafe Has New Dining Space Available

The new dining room recently opened at the Coffee Pot Cafe, 112 South Ohio, is a place of real charm. Above the knotty pine paneling that is halfway up the wall around the entire room are beautiful scenic pictures, all the same size and framed alike. On one side are colorful farm scenes while on the other side are water scenes that blend in with the blue green wall paper that extends from the paneling to the ceiling. Between the evenly spaced pictures are rectangular green containers with growing green plants.

The floor is covered with a linoleum in shades of light tan which is carried out in the table tops and the cushions of the chairs. The attractive tables and chairs are of black wrought iron and brass.

There is a quiet beauty about the place that particularly appeals to women who like atmosphere with their good food.

This room is opened at 11 a.m. for the lunch hour and in the evenings on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. At any time there is an overflow in the Coffee Pot proper, the dining room will be opened for customers, in fact that was a dining room in the first place. The Coffee Pot's popularity grew so fast in the two years it has been open that it couldn't properly take care of the customers and they didn't like to turn people away or ask them to wait. So William Howell, John Vandekamp and Miss Mildred Brackman, who has been bookkeeper at the seed store for a number of years, decided to expand the place to accommodate customers.

The new dining room will be used for private parties and for meetings of smaller organizations. At the present time the seating capacity is for 40 persons but, explained Vandekamp, for special parties they can take care of 60.

A door with a dark green curtain separates the new dining room from the Coffee Pot where there is a counter on one side and a row of yellow plastic booths on the other. Above the booths are two glass shelves holding an assort

Egypt Takes Steps to Meet West Pressure

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has tightened its belt to meet the challenge of what the government calls economic warfare waged by the West.

Egypt's economy was hit hard by events of 1956. After Gamal Abdel Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal Co., Egyptian assets of last November isolated Egypt from some of its major markets in Western Europe. American economic aid to Egypt was suspended abruptly.

As a result imports have been curtailed sharply. Increased exports to the Communist bloc have brought Egypt credits in those countries but little in the way of badly needed imports.

This has meant a sharp increase in cost of living. The peasant in upper Egypt pays more for his tea and sugar. Luxuries are disappearing from the market. Medicines are getting scarce. Commercial life has slowed to a walk. Unemployment is increasing.

In spite of all this, no one is starving. Food is abundant, and the primitive substandard economy of the mass of Egypt's population is hardly affected by trade and foreign exchange statistics.

On paper, Egypt has shown an improvement in its trade balance. Minister of Commerce Mohamed Abou Nossir recently predicted a favorable trade balance of 20 million Egyptian pounds (56 million dollars) contrasting with a deficit in 1956.

This favorable turn is due largely to restriction of imports—and expanded trade with Communist countries. Favorable trade balances with Communist countries won't necessarily improve Egypt's economy, however. These credits can't be transferred, and the Communist world has yet to prove it can supply Egypt's import needs adequately.

Supporters of the Nasser regime see a brighter side to the picture. Egypt should ear up to 42 million dollars in foreign exchange from the Suez Canal during the coming year. Talks with the French may open the door to resumption of trade with that country and recovery of one of Egypt's chief cotton markets.

UN Chooses Knight As Its President

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations has elected a knight to succeed a prince as its president.

He is Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, a 56-year-old diplomat with previous careers in law, newspaper work and radio broadcasting.

As president of the 12th Assembly, he succeeds Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand.

Munro is a knight commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, a rank bestowed upon him in Queen Elizabeth's 1955 New Year's honors list.

The honor goes to British subjects and British-protected persons who "may have rendered extraordinary and important services other than military within or in relation to any part of the British dominions or territories."

This description fits Munro, who stands over six feet tall, and has been boozing out his words here in deliberate fashion with a New Zealand twang for more than five years.

He has been permanent U.N. representative for New Zealand in the U.N. and his country's ambassador to Washington since February 1952.

sortment of coffee pots and old fashioned coffee grinders. The north side of the room where the counter is has pictures of the same type as those in the dining room on the wall just above the paneling.

Activity Queen Contest Has Classes Trying Salesmanship

By Beverly Long

The Activity Queen Contest began Monday at Smith-Cotton and closes on Thursday, Sept. 26. The class whose ticket sales amount to the most per member, as of its enrollment on Monday the 16th, will be the winner, and will have the honor of crowning its class queen at the opening home football game, which will be against Springfield the night of the 27th. The Activity Queen nominees of the various classes are: eighth

Russia Starts Publicizing Rocket Boast

WASHINGTON — Russia appears to have launched an all-out propaganda campaign to publicize its boast that new Soviet rockets can now destroy the United States and its allies.

Moscow's aim seems to be to convince the world it is an invincible military giant now that it has announced a claim to the world's first intercontinental missile.

U.S. officials have confirmed the test-firing of such missiles by Russia, but have expressed doubt that any are in production or available for operational use.

American officials who keep a constant check on Soviet propaganda said the campaign is remarkable because of its intensity. In one 72-hour period checked, they said, Radio Moscow featured this military boast some 80 times.

Soviet home broadcasts also are hitting this theme hard, as are Soviet newspapers and magazines.

Authorities studying Radio Moscow's broadcasts have come up with these tentative conclusions about the publicity campaign:

1. The major reason behind it is a desire to simply boast and exult in Syria's success in apparently beating the United States to the punch in perfecting the guided missile.

2. At the same time Russia is seeking to frighten America's European allies into believing they are now exposed militarily despite their American alliances and Atlantic Pact defenses. The Kremlin undoubtedly hopes this will cause Europeans to pressure the United States either into withdrawing forces from Europe or agreeing to Soviet terms for an East-West disarmament agreement.

3. Home broadcasts undoubtedly are aimed at reassuring the Russian people of the superiority of the Communist system in developing means for protecting them against any surprise attack from the capitalist war-mongering powers.

Sedalian Attends Osteopath Convention

Dr. Lowell Glaze, Gordon Building, Sedalia, attended the annual convention of the Missouri Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons at the Muehlebach hotel in Kansas City Sept. 11 through 13.

More than 500 osteopathic physicians from throughout the state registered for the three-day post-graduate meeting.

Featured guest speakers included Dr. Carl E. Morrison, St. Cloud, Minn., president of the American Osteopathic Association and Dr. True B. Eveleth, Chicago, AOA executive secretary.

Highlights of the scientific program was a presentation by a representative of Ford Motor Co. on modern crash research and a report from Missouri University's Department of Veterinary Medicine on diseases of animals transmissible to man. Other subjects covered included heart disease, food poisoning, ulcers and blood conditions.

Dr. Vernon H. Casner of Kirksville, Missouri, was installed as president of the state association, succeeding Dr. J. Edward Sommers, St. Louis.

Social highlight of the meeting was the president's banquet and ball Thursday evening, Sept. 12.

Rev. Muhl Presents Program Subject

The Grace Lutheran Aid held its monthly meeting at the Versailles Church with 14 members and two guests present.

The program was led by the pastor, the Rev. A. H. Muhl.

Miss Mary Beach served refreshments.

St. Louis Gets Second Blow On Military Cut

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis area is reeling from a second severe blow in less than a week from military spending cutbacks. The Army announced yesterday that the St. Louis ordnance plant will be put on a standby basis. More than 1,400 workers will be laid off.

Ammunition production at the plant will be halted Jan. 31. The largest groups of layoffs will be made in January and February but the dismissals won't all become effective until next August, the plant said.

Less than a week ago, the Navy announced plans for closing the St. Louis Naval Air Station at the municipal airport northwest of the city. The ordnance plant is in the northwest section of the city.

Those who will be laid off at the ordnance plant represent about 1,375 of the present 1,600 U. S. Defense Corp. workers and 51 of the 59 ordnance corps employees.

About 225 U. S. Defense Corp. employees will be retained indefinitely to maintain facilities so that production could be resumed quickly if necessary.

The Navy's shutdown of the naval air station involves the loss of 446 Navy personnel. The shutdown of training facilities for 1,349 reservists and the loss of jobs for 108 civilian employees. An annual payroll of nearly 3½ million dollars will be lost.

The Smith-Cotton art class is already busy making posters for the junior class ice cream social and for the activity ticket drive. As for the handicrafts classes, they are modeling animals, bowls and other figures in clay, and wooden trays are being decorated.

The eighth grade officers who were elected for this year are: president, Floyd Self; vice-president, Linda Ream; secretary-treasurer, Judy Scott; reporter, Dolly Alexander. The four members-at-large for the Junior Student Council are Lonny Schott, Jane Jolly, Kenneth Reed and Linda Lewis.

Businessmen Settle Case With Coin Flip

LOS ANGELES — Two businessmen, Steve Goss and Danny Powlitz, went to court for a settlement of a case awaiting trial for two years. After four hours they hadn't been called.

Finally Goss, suing for $500 he claimed Powlitz owed from a business deal, walked over and said: "Let's settle this the easy way."

That was okay by Powlitz, who suggested "double or nothing."

The flipped a coin. Goss called heads but it came up tails.

Goss left emptyhanded, with this philosophical observation: "He probably would have won in court anyway."

Alston Favors Drott

CHICAGO — Brooklyn Dodger Manager Walt Alston thinks Chicago Cub Dick Drott will make a better pitcher than either Lindy or Von McDaniel, the St. Louis Cardinal brothers. "I believe Drott has far better stuff," says Alston.

The McDaniel seem to have more poise but Drott should learn fast."

Soviet Ships Sail Close To US Fleet

LONDON — Two Soviet warships sailed for Syria today on a "friendship" mission, taking a course that could bring them close to the U. S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced last night that the cruiser Zhdanov and the destroyer Svobodny are heading for the Syrian port of Latakia at the invitation of the leftist government of Syria.

The Syrian government only last week charged U. S. warships made a provocative approach toward the Syrian coast. The U. S. warships denied this.

Bartle Says State Should Give Cities More Home Authority

ST. LOUIS — Mayor H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City says the state of Missouri should give its cities more home rule and stop "forcing them to go to the legislature for all authority."

He told the Missouri Municipal League at its annual meeting that the demand for city services is growing constantly, while the city's share of the tax dollar is decreasing.

The city's share of the tax dollar has dropped from 51 per cent in 1962 to 13 per cent in 1956, with the federal government now taking 72.3 per cent and county governments the rest.

Cash and Cow

CLEVELAND — Jubilant fund raisers for the Episcopal Church Advance Fund drive reported toppling their $1,235,000 goal by $477,399 and their cow.

Giving it all was the St. Mark's Parish, Shelby, Ohio, which reported receipt of 47 cash pledges and one Angus heifer.

4-H'ers Pictures Taken

Miss Alice Mae Alexander and Bill Colley from the University of Missouri were here Tuesday, Sept. 10, to take some 4-H pictures. Miss Alexander is planning on using them in 4-H bulletins.

Our first visit was with Priscilla Ellis. Priscilla has an oil painting which received a blue ribbon at the State Fair. She also has a few pieces of furniture that belonged to her great-grandmother that she has refinished, one being a churn that she uses as a lamp table, and a stand table with small brass rod legs and brass rod trim. The churn was another blue ribbon winner. Included in one picture was a hooked rug she made.

Our next stop was at the home of David McCune. David is also a blue ribbon winner with a picture. This picture was an old-fashioned car print made from wallpaper. The same wallpaper was used on one wall of his room. David painted the remaining three walls the same brown as the background of the wallpaper. He painted the ceiling and woodwork white, and

Mrs. Egbert To Head Ext. Club Council

The Pettis County Home Economics Council met Sept. 9 with the 1957 and the 1958 presidents present. The total attendance was 45 representing 26 clubs.

Mrs. Charles Rages, Sr., led in singing "America" and "Tell Me Why", with Mrs. L. B. DeBord as accompanist.

Mrs. Earl Jackson gave as the devotional a reading entitled "Love" and a poem entitled "Up to You."

The 1957 presidents introduced the new 1958 presidents and told how many new members had joined their club this year.

Several clubs offered to make cookies for the Blood Bank at the Whiteman Air Base.

Mrs. Floyd Egbert, Bryson Extension Club, was elected the new council president and Mrs. O. E. Richards, Bothwell Extension Club, was elected vice-president.

Several reports of the district advisory meeting held in Springfield were given as follows: Purpose of the district advisory meeting, Mrs. Floyd Egbert; Mrs. John Wall, balanced farming; Mrs. Paul Read, rural youth and 4-H; Mrs. Beynon Huntress, health and safety; Mrs. Floyd Egbert, marketing and consumer education.

Delta Reine of the Tanglewood 4-H gave a report on the state 4-H week she attended at Columbia.

The Agricultural Extension Council township elections will be held on Monday night, Nov. 18. The Home Economics Council agreed for the 4-H Clubs to run on program for entertainment and the Extension Clubs to assist with publicity and to serve refreshments at the different meetings.

Mrs. Buel Hoard reported on the state Council meeting she attended at Columbia. The new state song selected was "O What A Beautiful Morning."

Units of work selected for 1958 are as follows: Clothing, Personal Appearance; Foods, What's New In Food Preservation, Home Management, Furniture Refinishing and Color in the Home, Handicraft and Copper Enamel.

Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the Crippled Children's Center, discussed the help offered to children who need speech therapy. Anyone who wishes this help may call 7091 or 5418.

The County Achievement Day is to be held Oct. 4. First Methodist Church, starting with exhibits to be in place by 10. A turkey dinner will be served at 11:30. Mrs. Marian Beebe will be the guest speaker.

The Council adjourned to meet Dec. 10.

Boy Pulls Tooth Then Puts It in His Ear

CHICAGO (AP)—Little Pedro Lo-Lynch, the school nurse was not available. Lynch called police and asked them to take Pedro to a hospital.

The police said they needed parental permission and took Pedro home to get consent.

"No," said Pedro's father Guillermo. "We will take care of it here."

Guillermo held Pedro's head at an angle. His mother Carmen probed with her fingers and the tooth fell out.

OBITUARIES

B. M. Scotten

B. M. Scotten, son of the late R. M. and Mrs. Katie Scotten, member of one of Pettis County's widely known families, died at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of his brother, C. F. Scotten, 1629 West 18th. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Scotten, whose home was at 327 Chestnut, Kansas City, had long been in the drug business, starting his career in Sedalia at Second and Ohio, later establishing a drug business at Alliance, Neb.

Because of ill health, he retired about ten years ago and recently he and his wife moved to Kansas City. There Mr. Scotten was a member of the Independence Blvd. Christian Church. He was a member of Blue Lodge, Granite 272 AF and AM, Sedalia, and the Scottish Rite, Kansas City.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Florence Scotten, of the home; five brothers, P. V. Scotten, 114 West Broadway, O. M. Scotten, 903 South Prospect, D. W. Scotten, Route 4, J. L. Scotten, Route 3, and C. F. Scotten, 1629 West 18th, all of Sedalia and Pettis County.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home, where funeral services will be at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 20, the Rev. Harry Purvance, pastor of the First Christian Church, to officiate.

Pallbearers will be Garnet Bulkley, Walker Finley, Tom Augur, C. K. Parsons, Robert and Danny Scotten.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Clarence E. Leonard

Clarence E. Leonard, 39, Kansas City, formerly of Windsor, died Tuesday at the Osteopathic Hospital in Kansas City where he was taken after becoming ill at his home.

Funeral services will be at the Huston funeral home, Windsor, at 2 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. Rex Thomas, pastor of the Christian Church of which Leonard was a member, officiating.

Leonard had made his home in Kansas City for the past six years and at the time of his death was an elevator operator in the Riss building. He formerly was a guard at Sears, Roebuck and Co., store at 15th and Cleveland in Kansas City.

His wife, Mrs. Virgie L. Leonard, of the home, survives.

Lawrence E. (Bub) McGee

Lawrence E. (Bub) McGee, 26, Baytown, Tex., was killed in a gravel truck accident near there Monday, Sept. 16.

Mr. McGee was born in Sedalia March 2, 1931, and lived in and about the Sweet Springs vicinity until about ten years ago, when he moved to Texas.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Betty McGee; daughter, Becky Sue, of the home; mother, Mrs. John Adams, Sidney, Ia.; two sisters, Mrs. Velma Nichols, Imogene, Ia., and Mrs. Elsie Gray, Sidney; and a brother, Aubrey C. McGee, in the U.S. Army stationed at Guam.

The body arrived in Sedalia at 12:15 p.m. Thursday and was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home, where funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Burial will be in Mt. Zion Cemetery at Dunksburg.

Mrs. Walter Malberg

Mrs. Walter Malberg, the former Mrs. J. L. Brooks, Sedalia, died Wednesday at West Covina, Calif.

She has resided in California for a number of years, going there after the death of Mr. Brooks, who was a long term of years with the Dorn-Cloney Laundry here in its business offices. In California she resided at 219 North Lark Ellen in West Covina.

Surviving are her son, William F. Brooks, New York City, three grandsons, and her husband, Walter Malberg.

A son, Cloney Brooks, died several years ago.

Mrs. Malberg visited in Sedalia often after moving to California and was here last May. She had gone to the hospital for a checkup, was dismissed and after returning home had sudden severe pains. She was returned to the hospital and operated on, but did not respond.

The son, William F. Brooks, flew to California upon learning of his mother's death.

Miss Ollie M. Gerkin Services

Funeral services for Miss Ollie M. Gerkin, 75, who died at Bothwell Hospital Tuesday afternoon, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The Rev. Elmer L. Hobbs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis sang, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

Pallbearers were C. D. Demand, Chris Goodwin, A. C. Runge, Orin Chappell, Charles Maggard and Earl Crawford.

Burial was in the Houstonia Cemetery.

LODGE NOTICES

Loyal Rebekah Lodge No. 260, will meet Friday, Sept. 20th, at 8:00 p.m.

Esther Blankenship, N. G. Dora Herndon, Secretary.

Town Will Get Funds From Others

FREMONT, Mo. — Fremont citizens, determined to rebuild their tornado-wrecked town, have been informed that seven other Fremonts in the United States are helping to the tune of $5,400.

The idea of "Fremonts for Fremont" was conceived by Lester A. Walker, editor of the Fremont, Neb., Guide and Tribune, after he read news account of the disaster. Walker consulted his atlas and fired off letters to the seven other cities of Fremont, suggesting that each take up a collection for the stricken village.

Yesterday L. D. Smith, treasurer of the rebuild Fremont Committee, received a check from Walker.

He was a carpenter by trade and through the years constructed many of Smithton's business buildings and residences. He held membership for the early years of his life in the Christian Church at Somerset, Ky.

His wife died June 24, 1952, and a son and daughter, Elizabeth and Wilburn, are deceased.

Survivors include several nieces and nephews and grandchildren, Verna, Fay, Jimmy Reid; Margie and Gordon Gilbertone.

The body was taken to the Neu-meyer Funeral Home to remain until funeral services there at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The Rev. J. L. Freeman, Ver-sailles, will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Smithton Cemetery.

William Harvey Reid

William Harvey Reid, 96, Smithton's oldest resident, died at 8 p.m. Wednesday at his home following an illness of two weeks. He had resided in the Smithton community since the age of 17 when he came to that place from his birthplace, Somerset, Ky. He was born Aug. 29, 1861, his parents being William and Sarah Reid.

Mr. Reid was married to Luticia Catoon Jan. 21, 1903.

He was a carpenter by trade and through the years constructed many of Smithton's business buildings and residences. He held membership for the early years of his life in the Christian Church at Somerset, Ky.

The Missouri village was leveled by a twister last May 21 which roared down the main street. Six persons were killed and more than 20 injured. Included in the destruction was a new school building.

Walker's home town was second largest contributor to the cause with $118. First was Fremont, Ohio, $261. Other Fremonts with contributions ranging from $11 to $301 were those in Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Fremont Center, N. Y., and Fremont, Wis.

Smith said "now we're deciding what we can do with the money that will be in the 'best interests of the entire community.'

Reconstruction of homes is already "well under way," Smith said.

The town also plans to rebuild its school, although the State Department of Education is reportedly opposed to the idea. Fremont residents say they don't want to be absorbed by another school district and they believe the federal government will help put up the school.

Rachel B. Ellison

Rachel B. Ellison, 72, died at the Bothwell Hospital at 12:05 a.m. Sept. 18. She had been ill for the past three months. She was born in Otterville on Sept. 19, 1885, daughter of the late John L. and Eugenie Lindsey. She was married to Charles Ellison on Jan. 11, 1906. She was a resident of Smithton all of her life.

She was a member of the Smithton Methodist Church, the Garden Club, W.C.S., and the Stony Point Club.

She is survived by her husband Charles Ellison, Smithton, one son Dr. John R. Ellison, Thayer, Mo., and five daughters; Mrs. F. R. Hampry, Smithton, Mrs. B. M. Lamberson, Kansas City, Mrs. John Edwards, El Cajon, Calif., Mrs. Martha Hannafrou, San Diego, Calif., Mrs. L. J. Farrelly, Fullerton, Calif. Also surviving are nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. She is survived by two brothers, Arthur Lindsey, Modesta, Calif., and H. W. Lindsey, Glendale, Calif.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 21 at the Methodist Church in Smithton. The Rev. Earl Dillon, assisted by Rev. Loyd Watson, will officiate. Burial will be at the Smithton Cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Neumeyer Funeral Home in Smithton.

Mrs. Effie Reed Services

Funeral rites for Mrs. Effie Reed 1609 East Seventh, who died at Bothwell Hospital Wednesday will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Gillespie Funeral Home, the Rev. Kenneth Davidson, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, to officiate.

With Miss Lillian Fox at the organ, Russell Maag will sing "Sometimes We'll Understand" and "Beyond The Sunset."

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Mabel McLeod Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel McLeod, 1924 East 12th, who died at Bothwell Hospital Tuesday, the Rev. Leonard Reifel, pastor of the Federated Church, officiating.

Russell Maag with Miss Lillian Fox at the organ sang "Beyond The Sunset" and "Abide With Me."

Burial was in the Crown Hill Cemetery.

The Cardinals have had only one left-hander, Vinegar Bend Mize, Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, yesterday began a frantic search for a south-paw.

Kuzava, 34, had an 8-8 record with Columbus and an earned run average of 2.41.

Lane said Kuzava, who began the season with the Pittsburgh Pirates, will join the Cardinals tomorrow in time for the start of their three game series at Cincinnati.

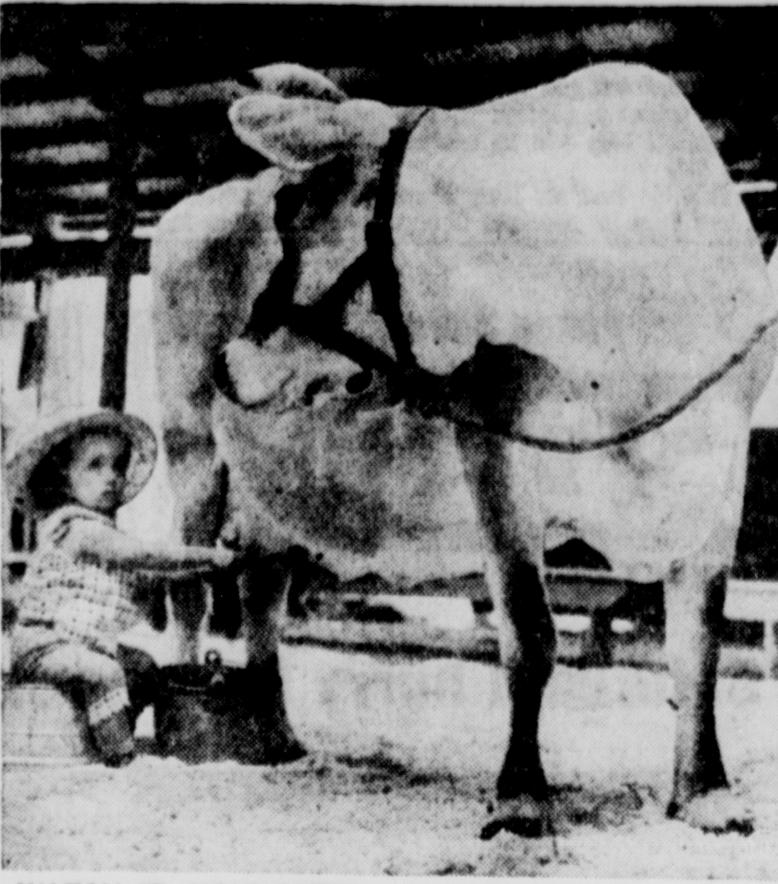

Pinky Lee to Remarry His Wife of 25 Years

LOS ANGELES — Comic Pinky Lee — a believer in short engagements and long marriages — plans to remarry his wife of 25 years.

Lee, 43, and his wife Beatrice (Bebe), 40, said they will celebrate their anniversary today in a wedding ceremony performed by Beverly Hills Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffin.

They recalled that they married in Brooklyn, N.Y., Sept. 19, 1932, just three days after they met for the first time. They have two children, Morgan, 22, and Patti, 17.

Babylonians and Egyptians produced beautiful and intricate needlework with crude fish-bone needles.

That is the purport of an AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee report finding formally that the Teamsters Union is corruptly dominated. The report named Hoffa, Dave Beck, Frank Brewster and others as being responsible.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, which meets in New York next week, still must act on the report and prescribe the terms of any penalty. But that is regarded as a formality. The decision is up to the Teamsters; a thorough cleanup, or seemingly certain ouster from the AFL-CIO family of unions.

This is no meaningless penalty. It would mean Teamsters officials everywhere would have to forfeit positions of prominence in key state and local labor echelons. It also would mean ostracism and all-out warfare with practically all the rest of organized labor — a fight that could be bloody and could endure for many years.

What effect this will have on the 44-year-old O'folla's ambitions to take over the teamsters presidency from Dave Beck will depend on how delegates react at the Teamsters convention. It starts Sept. 30 at Miami Beach, Fla. Hoffa, like Brewster, is now a union vice president.

Three other union officials are opposing Hoffa for election to the presidency and one of them, Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago, announced he will start tomorrow a campaign swing through the East. He plans to visit Washington, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit in the course of a speaking tour.

Benson Puts Emphasis On US Aid

Mounting requests for special emergency assistance due to crop disasters emphasize that eligible farmers in counties where such insurance is available can provide their own basic emergency assistance through Federal All-Risk Crop Insurance, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson pointed out today.

"Crop disasters resulting from the many hazards beyond the farmer's control—such as drought, excessive rain, hurricane, hail, flood and frost—illustrate the basic need that exists for all-risk insurance of crop investments," Secretary Benson said. "We are developing and offering Federal Crop Insurance as a business method for farmers to join together for their mutual protection against crop disasters by paying insurance premiums in line with the variations in risk that exist between crops and farms."

"This insurance is not yet available on all crops or in all counties. Where it is available, it can be the farmer's first line of defense against the crop disasters which are resulting in so many requests for special emergency assistance."

"We find that in numerous counties for which such special emergency assistance is requested, crop insurance was available to the farmers but only a small percentage were willing to pay the premium for the protection needed against the crop disaster that struck."

"Insurance is a sound way to protect against crop disaster just as it is against other disasters. Each person who shares in the benefits of its protection must also share in the building and financing of the protection. Recent crop disasters should emphasize to farmers and others who may have felt that their counties were immune to crop disaster that this is a hope and not a fact."

"Since crop insurance benefits the entire community when crop disaster strikes, businessmen and others who work with and for farmers should encourage them to protect against crop disaster through Federal All-Risk Crop Insurance where it is available."

"In insurance as some other things, there is strength in numbers. High participation by farmers in those counties where crop insurance is currently available will provide needed emergency assistance when crop disaster strikes. Disaster has a habit of hitting new areas each year as well as repeating in some areas again. Drought, flood, hail, wind and a host of pests and diseases can strike any farmer without warning."

Ex-Budget Official Take TVA Position

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Arnold R. Jones takes office today under a recess appointment by President Eisenhower as a member of the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Jones is a former deputy director of the budget. His appointment to succeed Dr. Harry A. Curtis, is subject to Senate confirmation when it reconvenes in January. Curtis retired.

CONGO COMMUNICATIONS—In the dense jungle of the Belgian Congo, the tom-tom is still the quickest means of communication. Above, at Coquihaville, a "wireless" operator sends a message through the jungle on a hollowed-out wood block. The two "lips" in the upper part give the instrument its "tune." It takes an experienced drummer to beat out a "readable" message on the tom-tom.

Definite Symptoms Wanted

Psychologists Seek Signs Of Those Intending Suicide

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two psychologists have invaded the shadowy world of suicide in a search for real causes and are actually not very important in the study.

"Most of the letters we have given ill health as the reason," Dr. Shneidman said in an interview.

"But obviously everyone in ill health doesn't commit suicide just as everyone who lost money in 1929 didn't jump out the window. It goes much deeper than that."

"But what we're trying to learn is not so much why people commit suicide as how they act once the idea of suicide has taken hold."

"We believe there are definite signs that indicate the suicidal attitude—obvious things such as loss of appetite, sleeplessness, lowered sex drive and others not so obvious."

"We hope to make these signs so explicit that they can be recognized for what they are and the individual can get the care and understanding that could save his life."

Faubus May Attempt Two Legal Shifts

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus is approaching the climax of his long-drawn duel with the federal government over integration, and reports circulated today that he is ready to take the offensive through two important legal maneuvers.

Faubus is under summons to appear in federal court tomorrow morning.

At the hearing, government attorneys will ask U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies to issue a temporary injunction against Faubus. If granted—and there is little doubt of that in Little Rock—it will command the governor to withdraw the National Guard from Central High School and open the doors for Negro students to enroll.

An informant highly placed in the state Democratic party, however, said Faubus' attorneys will offer two motions first.

He said they will ask Judge Davies to disqualify himself to hear the arguments.

And then, whether he does this or not, the source said, they will demand to see the secret FBI report on the situation in Little Rock prior to Sept. 3 when the high school opened for the fall term.

Faubus conferred most of yesterday with Rep. Hays (D-Ark.), believed to be the chief link between the governor and the White House.

Hays was the intermediary in arranging last week's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

Two Department of Justice attorneys arrived last night to assist U.S. Dist. Atty. Orso Cobb in the hearing Friday.

Little Rock is quiet but tingling with expectancy as the showdown in court draws near.

Vision FOR THE FUTURE

The Ralph Green electric plant located at Pleasant Hill is one of the largest privately-owned steam generation facilities between St. Louis and Kansas City. Early next year the plant's electric capacity will be doubled by completion of a second power generator.

Rapid industrialization of Western Missouri has created the need for more electric power.

Western Missouri's many natural resources, skilled workers, central location to all parts of the nation, and adequate electric power reserves combine to make this area one of the most dynamic and appealing in the United States for industries seeking new location.

If granted—and there is little doubt of that in Little Rock—it will command the governor to withdraw the National Guard from Central High School and open the doors for Negro students to enroll.

The purpose of the Activity Drive is to raise an adequate amount of money to meet athletic expenses. The class which sells the largest quota of tickets is entitled to have its candidate named queen. Candidates from each class will be chosen later this week. If anyone wishes to obtain tickets, please get in touch with any Sacred Heart High student. Tickets are good for admission to all home basketball and volleyball sessions. This year, with a large increase in the student body, hopes are that the students will pass the record set two years ago.

The get-acquainted picnic was held Monday night at the Catholic Community Center. Refreshments were served and dancing followed that evening. The party was a huge success.

This Friday night the Sacred Heart football team will meet Smithton at House Park at 7 p.m.

Safety Belts Reduce Deaths

During the course of a trip south on Highway 65 a Sedalia young man avoided a collision, left the road and his car rolled over several times. The unexpected happened—he wasn't killed. He wore an auto safety belt.

Every year thousands of similar accidents occur, but the result is not the same. Drivers and passengers are often tossed out through doors flying open, thus suffering crushed skulls and bodies by impact with concrete or under the rolling automobile.

There is something to be said in behalf of adequate and properly installed safety belts. The American Medical Association is on record that one out of every four highway traffic deaths would have been prevented by use of this safety device which at present is in use on only 5 per cent of all cars on the road.

A manufacturer estimates that use of seat belts in all cars and trucks would reduce the 40,000 fatalities annually to less than 19,000 and would reduce the 1,000,000 serious injuries to 500,000.

In other words what would otherwise be major accidents within the car, or being thrown out, can be made minor accidents by use of belts of adequate strength and proper installation.

Admittedly seat belts are not a panacea for all accident injuries but they will materially reduce critical forces imposed on vehicle occupants at any speed whether the seat belts remain intact or not. They tend to keep the passenger inside the car where chances of serious injury are cut 50 per cent.

There is more than the safety feature in use of seat belts. Anyone taking an overland trip and using the belts consistently will not become so tired at the end of the driving day. There is a mistaken notion that belts are uncomfortable. Driver or passenger will soon learn that they buttress proper and restful seat posture. Passengers particularly will notice they no longer involuntarily leg the floor boards when the car takes a curve or when the driver brakes for stop signs or any other emergency. A belt hold-in tends to keep the driver and passenger relaxed thus avoiding muscle tension which can be a tiresome experience on a long trip.

Missouri State Fair visitors may have noticed in the Atoms for Peace exhibit an airplane of the vintage of 1914. Very noticeable was the safety belt attached to the pilot's seat.

So their use is nothing new. Most commercial truckers long ago adopted them as standard equipment, following the lead of the airplane industry.

Use of safety belts in passenger cars should meet with more public acceptance considering the safety—and comfort—they provide.

Syria Strong Man Leans Toward Soviet

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson, continuing his reports from the vital Near East, today interview's Syria's pro-Communist strong man, General Bizri.)

By DREW PEARSON

DAMASCUS—(Via Radio)—I have just interviewed the top pro-Communist and military strong man of Syria, Gen. Afif Bizri, chief of staff of the Syrian army. He was extremely frank and not unfriendly, but was extremely discouraging as far as Syria's future relations with America are concerned.

In brief, the United States is likely to find Syria a model Soviet outpost in the Arab world as long as General Bizri remains in power.

Getting to see Bizri was not difficult. But getting to Syria was difficult. In New York, the Syrian consul flatly refused to give me a visa. In Washington, the Syrian embassy flatly refused to discuss the matter. Finally, I hired a taxi in Lebanon and drove one hour to the Syrian border without a visa on the chance that I could talk my way across the border. It worked.

The border was a madhouse of travelers from Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia, going and coming. The harassed border authorities gave me a visa and I continued across the desert past camels and Cadillacs, donkeys of the kind that carried Joseph and Mary, buses crammed with Arab travelers going to Damascus to see its international fair.

Won't Sell Independence

"Aren't you afraid of losing your independence when you take arms from Russia?" I asked.

"Why didn't you sell us arms?" he parried.

"The State Department informs me that it offered arms to Syria," I said.

"The State Department forgot to tell you," General Bizri replied, "that it attached political conditions to those arms which would have ended our independence."

Later I checked with American officials who informed me that exactly the same terms were offered Syria as were offered other Arab countries—the arms were not to be used for aggression, were not to be transferred to another country, and an American military mission would be stationed in Syria to ascertain that the terms were carried out.

First Dwight D. Eisenhower became president and many feared

"Aren't you afraid of losing your independence when you receive money from Russia to build roads, airports and harbors?" I asked.

"Assuming we have made some mistakes," I asked, "how can we improve relations from here on?"

"The mistakes of the United States are not theory, but fact," the general shot back. "The first step the United States can take is not to give ear to such hysterical persons as Charles Malik." He referred to the foreign minister of Lebanon, a Christian Arab and staunch friend of the U.S.

"You can also not consult with such smugglers who fled their countries as Sherif Nasser of Jordan," he added, referring to the uncle of King Hussein now with ex-President of Syria Shishinsky. "The best trade they deal with leads to bad roads. I am ashamed when I stretch my hand to shake hands with Americans who do business with these smugglers. Many Americans on our embassy staff did business with them," the general continued. "Those whom we asked to leave our country were the most active. They had contacts with civilians and with military officers plotting against our regime and to kill me. What the Americans did not know was that these officers immediately reported to me."

I asked Bizri who these alleged American plotters were and he named Col. Robert Malloy, military attaché; Vice Consul Francis Jetton and second Secretary Howard Stone. Later the American embassy vigorously denied the charges.

"These Americans," Bizri continued, "paid money to Syrian officers to overthrow our regime. We have this money—about 100,000 Syrian pounds—which we will show at the trial. Charges will be officially published in a few days and the trial will follow later. You in America pay taxes and this is what your tax money is used for."

U.S. Papers "Don't Print Facts"

"Your newspapers learn the facts correctly but don't print these facts. They print completely the opposite of what they learn. This is unfortunate, but it doesn't deter us from completing our program and defending our country. We hope that honorable people in America will come here and learn the truth. We would like to establish relations with honorable Americans."

And we would guess that the whole development has done irreparable damage to the chance of rehabilitation of any one of these three fugitives, were there any hope for—or need of—such rehabilitation.

We are, then, paying a big cost for the methods of the Fulton institution, "regardless of the character or justifiability of those methods."

The solution, it seems to us, lies in the creation, at Fulton or elsewhere, of a tight security prison for the criminally insane, designed to provide space for the scientists to attempt their cures, inside or outside of cells, as the dictates of their studies may provide, but certainly inside walls which will prevent them from endangering the lives of others by their mentally unbalanced whims.

The United States, I concluded, will have increasing trouble with Syria under General Bizri.

"Whose Idea Was It to Stand Up and Be Counted?"

Old Saying Is Questioned

Conditions and Times Change Opinions

By ED CREAM
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Guess who said this on Sept. 17, 1957:

"We must give our whole support to the national defense, cost what it may. We must announce our convictions that no price is too high to pay for the precious gift of national security."

Give up? Well, the man who said this in a speech to the American Legion at Atlantic City, N.J., this week is Louis A. Johnson, a former secretary of defense.

He is the same man who got bounced out of Harry S. Truman's Cabinet because his critics said he was pinching pennies too much.

There is no intention here to pick on Johnson because his views may have taken a 180-degree turn. The point is that times, conditions and opinions do change.

Political pressures do, too, and this is something for Americans to be concerned about.

The past few years have seen backing and filling on defense policy to a degree that would have bordered on comic opera if the life or death of the nation hadn't been involved.

First Dwight D. Eisenhower became president and many feared

"Aren't you afraid of losing your independence when you receive money from Russia to build roads, airports and harbors?" I asked.

Elaborate Navy Maneuvers

They're Not So Sure War Will Be Quick Wrapup

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—From the cold and darkening sea frontier between Norway and Greenland to the warm and sunny Mediterranean waters off Turkey Allied naval forces now stand ready to begin some of the most elaborate maneuvers ever held in peacetime.

In a few days we'll be reporting first-hand from the fleet. We'll try and present a bird's eye picture of what's going on, how our units rate, and how a fellow gets from place to place during the show.

September 19, Operation "Strike Back" gets under way. More than 150 vessels of all types will participate. Our big carriers, Forrestal and Saratoga, will be there. And it will be the last run for the mighty Iowa, which is to be mothballed soon. Iowa is the only battlewagon now with the fleet.

Maneuver area for Strike Back, in which some Allied units will play the role of "aggressor," is the rough seas between Greenland and Norway. Land based air craft will intercept simulated attacks from carriers.

At the other end of the vast sea arc, our Marines will "assault" the beaches in the Arousa bay area of Western Turkey. Greek and Turkish units will participate in this exercise, which has been dubbed "Deep Water." It will span four days, beginning Sept. 24.

Air units of the United States, the United Kingdom, Greece, Turkey, and Italy will participate in Deep Water. The Marines, of course, are attached to our mighty Sixth Fleet, which is today the most powerful force in the Mediterranean, and therefore in the troubled Middle East.

More than 75,000 servicemen will be employed in the fall maneuvers, according to Pentagon spokesmen. Besides general fleet operations and simulated assault landings, the naval forces will practice submarine warfare, anti-submarine warfare, mining and mine-sweeping, and convoy escort.

The names of the exercises follow: Fish Play (submarine warfare), Sea Spray (fleet workout), Sea Watch (anti-sub and convoy protection); Fend Off (anti-sub), Pipe Down (small scale fleet exercise).

Ruth Millett Says

Are Man's Estimates Right, Woman's Always Wrong?

Will some big, strong man kindly explain to us women why it is . . .

That when she talks on the telephone it's yakking, but his calls are always on important business.

That when he says he has been looking forward all day to a quiet evening at home it is always a quiet when she wants to go out.

That he never forgets it was her idea if it doesn't turn out right, but never mentions whose idea it was if it does.

Care to explain this to us, any of you men?

A Tough Airedale No Match For Full Grown Siamese Cat

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK P—Everyone has his favorite cat-and-dog story, and mine is the tale of Felicia and Scrapper.

Scrapper was a friendly but tough Airedale who bossed everything on four feet in the suburban neighborhood where he dwelt. He did that, until the lady of the house accepted as a gift a full-grown Siamese cat name Felicia.

"You're making a mistake," warned the master of the house.

"You know Scrapper can't stand cats. He'll make mincemeat of Felicia in five minutes."

"We'll see," replied the lady of the house serenely.

Scrapper was across the yard when Felicia arrived. At sight of her he let out a high, excited yelp. Then, a cavalryman at heart, he charged.

Felicia, staring at him silently with Mediterranean eyes, waited calmly, a citadel in fur. When Scrapper was within reach, she biffed him on the nose twice with her left paw, and followed with three deadly rights.

The next instant she was on his back, raking his head and neck with razor claws. The next instant she was under him, raking his belly with all deliberate speed.

Scrapper, bleeding, drew off in surprise from this feline tornado. He had learned the tactical error of Picket at Gettysburg.

He wasn't afraid. There was no room in his lion heart for fear. But he knew he had to find another way. He had to catch Felicia off guard.

So he began to stalk her, methodically, inexorably, hate in his canine soul. This cat had wounded his terrier pride. She must pay—if it took a lifetime.

He stalked her by day and by night. He stalked her on a seven-day-a-week schedule, winter and summer, and he never took a holiday. And he never caught Felicia off guard, never reached that "moment of truth" when he could move in and finish her off.

After three years of this war of nerves, Felicia, who up until then had enjoyed it as a game, apparently decided the time had come to end it. On a Sunday she walked to the edge of the yard, which bordered a busy highway. She stared at the traffic thoughtfully for a long time, and then turned and gazed thoughtfully at Scrapper.

Felicia, her mind made up, waited for a break in the traffic, then leisurely crossed the highway. She paused, looked back at Scrapper, then slowly and deliberately lay down in the grass, and rolled over—as if asleep.

Tempted beyond caution, Scrapper raced madly out on the highway. There was a screeching of brakes—a yelp, then stillness.

The master of the house, who

Not Going Anywhere

Dodgers At Least Kept Up With Big Boys Almost to End

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

The Brooklyn Dodgers aren't going anywhere, except maybe to the pennant. Both Milwaukee and St. Louis have nine games left. They meet in a three-game series opening at Milwaukee Monday.

In the American, the New York Yankees reduced their magic number to four, defeating Detroit 4-3. They have a 6½-game lead with eight to play. Chicago's second-place White Sox have 11 left after defeating Baltimore 7-5.

The square-jawed field boss of the Cards made no bones about how tough it was to lose that one last night.

"Four games aren't easy to overcome," he said. "But remember the New York Giants in 1951—they did it."

He felt the Cards still will be within striking distance when they reach Milwaukee for a three-game series Sept. 23-24-25.

Hutch's club disappointed a crowd of 22,468 by failing to score on 10 hits in the first five innings. They then handed Brooklyn four unearned runs on three errors in the seventh and eighth.

The manager and his players were philosophical about it.

They had won 11 of 13 since Labor Day, Hutch pointed out, and for the season have done "about as well as could be expected."

Frank Lane has been trying to pick up a left-handed pitcher to help the club in its last nine games, when they'll face lineups loaded with left-handed slingers.

The Cardinals have only one lefty — Vinegar Bend Mizell. Hutch plans to lead off with him at Cincinnati tomorrow, then use Sam Jones and Herman Wehmeier in the second and third games.

Milwaukee Official Says Team Will Break Attendance Record

MILWAUKEE — A Milwaukee Braves official predicted today the club will break its own National League attendance record of 2,131,388 by about 100,000 before the regular season closes.

The National League leaders passed the two-million attendance mark for the fourth year in a row last night. Their game with the New York Giants attracted 31,568 paid admissions and pushed their total draw for 67 home dates to 2,029,301.

Donald Davidson, public relations director estimated that the Braves would draw about 205,000 fans through the turnstiles in their remaining six home dates.

That would bring the club's total for the season at 43,768-seat County Stadium to around 2,230,000 or about 103,000 above the record set in 1954.

Vanderbilt Holds Nite Practice Before Missouri U. Game

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Vanderbilt's football team worked out under the lights at Dudley Stadium last night for the first time this fall in preparation for Saturday night's opener with Missouri.

Smoky Burgess' single won it for the Redlegs in the ninth. Brooks Lawrence, whose RBI single juked a three-hit shutout by loser R.G. Smith in the seventh, won his 16th.

Mike Garcia won his 12th for the Indians while Billy Harrell hit a three-run double in a five-run fifth that clinched it.

Big Doings in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. — Even Texans are amazed at Texas Interscholastic League statistics.

For instance, take those for high school football this coming season.

Games scheduled, 4,700.

Players, 45,000.

Expected attendance, 7 million.

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

MORTY MEEKLE

Lions Hear Conservation Field Chief

Ray M. Wells, chief of the field service for the Missouri Conservation Commission, was the speaker at the noonday meeting of the Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday.

The speaker talked on conservation of Missouri's wildlife, especially stressing on shelter for quail, the cooperation between the hunter and the farmer. He discussed the deer population of Missouri and explained the moving up of deer season, Nov. 5-9.

Wells discussed the problem of colors for hunters clothes, stating the Legislature turned down a bill which would compel a hunter in the field during deer season to wear certain color clothing.

It is strictly up to the hunter, and in the cross discussion the color yellow has been considered and declared a safe color for hunters, in fact it was pointed out that color was superior to the present predominate red.

It was announced duck season will open Nov. 10 through Jan. 31. The speaker was introduced by Bill Bunn, program chairman.

Karl Berry was a guest of John Ellison at the meeting.

A. B. Warren, president, conducted the meeting.

Ed Wynn Loses Fear Of Oblivion

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Wynn is pretty sure he needn't be afraid any more.

"The one fear of my life was to die in oblivion," muses the little man who has been making show business headlines for 55 years.

Now very much television's man of the moment, Wynn wants others to use the moral of his story.

"Never give up," explains Ed.

"The most important line I ever learned in my career was given to me by Elbert Hubbard—The only way to stay out of the Down and Out Club is never send in an application for membership."

Wynn, who pioneered a number of firsts in theater, radio and TV, gets the VIP treatment tonight in an hour-long "Command Appearance" over the NBC-TV network.

It is a company of performers including Rod Alexander, Steve Allen, Mimi Benzell, Janet Blair, Billie Burke, Jill Corey, Alfred Drake, Oscar Hammerstein II, Beatrice Lillie, Bambi Linn, Jack Palance, Rudy Vallee and Ed's son, Keenan, will gather round to salute the one-time "Perfect red."

Although highly appreciative of the "cute idea" of this spot enterprise devised by the American Theatre Wing, Wynn takes a long-range look to make history important to others.

"I've reached some kind of pinnacle that I can't understand," comments the man who began to emerge from theatrical eclipse two years ago.

"I don't like the word comeback or hiatus—the plain truth is that for a while there I couldn't get a job."

"Keenan convinced me that my funny clothes era was over. Now I've put that all away—400 coats and 900 hats."

"What I'm trying to do is have two complete careers in one lifetime—an extraordinary thing."

"I want to play dramatic roles for as long as they want me. For 54 years I played a supposititious character. Now I'm playing human beings. That's a difficult transition."

"My daily prayer," he said, "is to be spared to accomplish this thing."

Selznick admitted that he has

Hollywood to Observe Its 50th Anniversary

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fifty years ago a Chicago movie company came to Los Angeles for location scenes on "The Count of Monte Cristo," starring the late Hobart Bosworth.

Southern California so impressed the film's producer, the late William N. (Col. Billy) Selznick, that he moved his polyscope company here from Chicago.

Now an industry spokesman announces that Hollywood's golden jubilee will be celebrated beginning Oct. 17. Celebrities will take off that day in a chartered plane on a nationwide tour, which will end in New York Nov. 8.

Says Film Feud Stories Are Not True

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Back from his hectic filming of "A Farewell to Arms" in Italy, David O. Selznick says it was his most difficult production—but not the most tempestual.

Tops in temperament, he remarked, was "Gone With the Wind." This despite reports from Italy of his feud with director John Huston and others.

Propaganda, said the producer. "There were a lot of false reports printed about the picture because two segments of the press hated me," Selznick declared.

"The Communist press hated me because I wouldn't use any Communist labor on the picture. And the Fascist, Neo-Fascist and Monarchist press hated me because they thought the story reflected ill on the government's conduct of World War I."

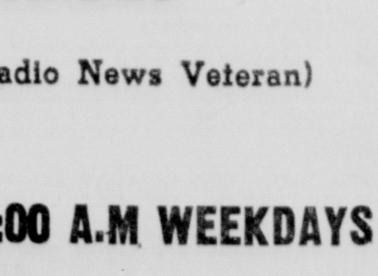

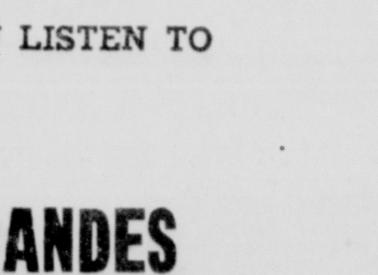

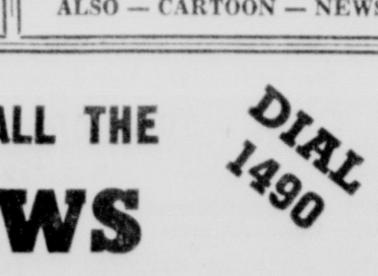

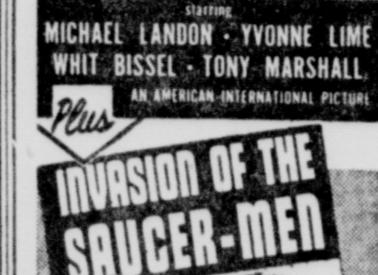

What about his blowup with Huston?

"That happened before the picture began," Selznick explained. "As Ben Hecht commented, it was the case of two Caesars and one Aip."

"I thought I could work with Huston, and I believe honestly he could work with me. But it turned out that he couldn't fulfill the conditions as outlined in his contract and in several conversations with me."

"Actually, I don't think John is the kind of a director who can work with a producer. The producers he has had have pretty much given him the rein. I don't work that way."

Selznick admitted that he has

never had more production trouble on a picture before. The reason, he said: Italy's lack of movie making know-how.

"Our production facilities are far superior in Hollywood," he said. "But the picture also would have cost a great deal more if we made it here. And there are things which you just couldn't duplicate here. Not just the scenery, which is great, but the authentic look of the extras. The feeling of Italy even seeps into the interiors."

Colorado Man
Has Clientele
Around World

By JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A young Colorado physicist has opened up an outer space messenger service with a world-wide clientele. Telegrams from Alan H. Shapley's new business do not reach Mars. But they are eagerly awaited by 5,000 fellow scientists engaged in a global exploration of the Earth's mysteries.

Shapley on the Boulder Laboratories, National Bureau of Standards, is boss of communications for the International Geophysical Year.

For the next 18 months, his radio-teletype network will send word to scientists from 62 nations about what's happening in the atmosphere and on the sun. Then from observatories and weather stations ranging from Asia to mountain peaks to the steaming tropics, they can study these actions at the same time.

Since the idea of the International Geophysical Year was first hatched, the importance of a top-flight communications system was readily apparent. A method had to be found to alert observers all over the world to solar gymnasiums.

Shapley got the job. A sudden effect of the assignment was to take the scientist out of the laboratory and turn him into an international traveler.

For the past four years, the Harvard astro-physics graduate who is also vice-chairman for the U.S. National Committee for IGY has been constantly on the go. His travels flew him back and forth from such distant spots as Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo, Moscow, Paris and Arctic icebergs meeting with government officials and scientists.

Both commercial and government networks throughout the world are being used to speed the word to watchful scientists. Ham operators in the United States can keep up with solar activities twice every hour by tuning in WVV and WWVH. Messages will be sent on these National Bureau of Standards stations in Morse Code twice each hour.

For instance if a listener hears five As in succession, he will know an Alert is about to start. Five Ss mean a Special World Interval will take place the next day. Radio frequencies are 2½, 5, 10, 15, and 25 megacycles.

The system's headquarters, called the World Warning Agency, is located at the Bureau of Standards radio forecasting center at Fort Belvoir, Va. Four main regional offices are located in Moscow, Paris, Tokyo and Sidney, Australia.

Completing the network are the local bureaus strung out from frigid glaciers to ocean washed Pacific beaches.

Every day each station notifies its regional office of what it has observed on the sun. The regional office in turn funnels the information to Fort Belvoir. If an unusual occurrence should be spotted, like an extra large flare, Fort Belvoir may send out an alert. This notifies everyone to keep their eyes on the sun.

If the tempo of the phenomenon should start increasing, the Headquarters might announce a Special World Interval. This is equivalent to an air raid alarm to scientists. It tells them the solar activity has reached an intensity to cause changes in the atmosphere or on the Earth.

Maple Fudge Scores Grand Slam

DEALER'S CHOICE: The men at your bridge party will have a tough time deciding whether to first try the delicious maple walnut fudge or the club-sized hero sandwiches.

By Cecily Brownstone

Associated Press Food Editor

Like maple flavor? Want the fun of offering homemade candy when your friends come to visit? Then you might like to try this recipe for maple fudge. Directions are so specific that you should have no trouble in turning out a batch with a professional air.

MAPLE WALNUT FUDGE

Ingredients: 1 cup sugar, 1 cup blended syrup, salt, 1/2 cup light cream, 3/4 cup coarsely broken walnut meats.

Method: Put sugar, maple-blended syrup, a dash of salt and the cream in a heavy medium-sized saucepan. Place over low heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Then boil, without stirring, until a small amount (about a teaspoonful) of the mixture forms a soft ball when it is dropped into a cup of very cold water (or to a temperature of 236 degrees on a candy thermometer). Remove from heat.

Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees on a candy thermometer) without stirring. Then beat mixture until it loses its gloss — this usually takes from 12 to 15 minutes. Just as the candy is losing its gloss, stir in the walnuts. Turn at once into a lightly buttered pan — 8 by 4 by 3 inches is a good size. When candy is cold cut into squares and remove with spatula. Makes 18 large pieces.

Men usually enjoy hero-type sandwiches for a snack. We make these with crusty club rolls from a bakery. For 9 or 10 rolls, we use a half-pound of thinly sliced Italian-type salami, 1/4 pound of thinly-sliced boiled ham, 9 or 10 very thin slices of cooked smoked tongue, 1/2 pound of thinly-sliced natural Swiss cheese, dill pickles, small pickled "cocktail" onions, prepared mustard, romaine lettuce.

We split the rolls lengthwise and butter the cut surfaces lightly. Then we layer one side with the meats and cheese — folding these over as necessary — and add very thin lengthwise slices of dill pickle. We spread the other side of the roll with the prepared mustard and tuck three or four small pickled onions down into it at intervals. We put the rolls together with a small leaf of lettuce and romaine lettuce.

Wrapping each sandwich individually in foil or waxed paper, if they are to be stored before serving, is a good idea. These are hefty offerings and they are too big for sandwich bags, but you can be sure they won't be too big for man-size appetites!

J. M. Palmer Wins Insurance Contest

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Palmer of Green Ridge, were entertained by the officials of the State Farm Automobile Insurance Co. of Columbia, at their plant at Columbia, on Thursday Sept. 12.

Mr. Palmer was winner in a contest for agents in District 37 on increased production in Auto Mobile Insurance for the month of July.

They were guests of the Regional vice-president, C. E. Beadles and were taken on a tour of the large plant which was recently constructed, and treated to a steak dinner. Another agent, Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Huntsville, also a winner in the contest, were entertained the same day. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Wright were each presented a gift.

The State Farm Automobile Insurance plant at Columbia employs about 200 people.

Father Tells

Daughter's

Dope Addiction

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I am her father," Mr. X said. "But I'd rather see her in her casket than the way she is today."

The man, keeping his back to the audience in the hearing room and shielding his face as much as possible, was describing the seven years of horror his daughter one of eight children, had caused the family.

She is a dope addict.

"Daddy, I've gotta have heroin — or alcohol," he quoted her yesterday at a State Senate Interim Committee on Narcotics hearing.

"And when she doesn't get dope, she drinks alcohol like it was water," he said.

Mr. X, the only name by which he was identified, said it all started when his daughter was 16 and attended a party at a friend's house. The friend's mother was to chaperone.

"The next I heard was when a deputy sheriff called," Mr. X related. "He said our daughter was in custody, that it had been a marijuana party."

The girl was placed in a school in the East, but she ran away and was placed in a different school.

"In the new school she took her first shot of heroin, 'just for fun,'" he said. At 16 she was an addict.

Clemens Completes
Special Auto Course

Buell C. Clemens, of Mike O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick Company, Sedalia, has returned from Shawnee, Kan., where he completed a special course in advanced automotive servicing and maintenance at the General Motors Training Center there.

The course was conducted by Chevrolet instructors who attended preparatory sessions under the supervision of the company's service and mechanical experts. The Shawnee Training is one of 30 operated by Generals throughout the United States and more than 50,000 service technicians have received training at the 30 centers in the last three years.

Several Visitors
Attend Club Meeting

Among pledges to fraternities at the University of Missouri following a 48-hour rush period is the following:

Sedalia: William Mason to Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Victor John VanDyke to Beta Theta Pi.

Warrensburg: James H. Houx II to Phi Delta Theta.

Marshall: Robert A. Bueker to Beta Theta Pi; John R. Lawrence to Delta Chi.

Bunceon: Jim Leonard to Delta Tau Delta.

Ex-Sedalian's Picture
Appears in Magazine

A picture of Mr. and Mrs. Max Berlin of Kansas City appeared in August issue of the Missouri Pacific Magazine. Mr. and Mrs. Berlin had observed their 50th wedding anniversary on June 25. Mr. Berlin, a former Sedalian, is a retired rate clerk and worked at the Kansas City freight house. He is a brother of Herbert Berlin, stock clerk at the Missouri Pacific shops in Sedalia and of Mrs. Gertrude Fischer and Mrs. Frieda Nelson, 322 North Brown.

Conductor is Comedian-Martinet NEW YORK (P)—Composer-Conductor Dimitri Tiomkin says he has to be half-comedian, half-martinet when bossing a band.

"I must destroy the musicians," he explains. "They come from home where maybe they have had a fight with their wife. Or maybe they have indigestion. Now they must play my way."

Tiomkin is currently supervising recording of the two hour score he wrote for "Search for Paradise," the new Cinerama adventure film.

Study Book Completed

Blackwater Garden Club At Lueckert Home

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER—The Blackwater Community Garden Club met recently for its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. D. Lueckert. There were eight members present. Mrs. F. W. Marshall, president, presided. Roll call was answered by naming something new in house plants. Mrs. Warner F. Wing acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Robert O'Neal. The program was in charge of Mrs. Percy McMahan. Her subject was "Potted Plants." The meeting adjourned into a social hour when refreshments were served.

Mrs. Paul Lehman, Winchester, Ill., her brother and guest, William Duvall, Milwaukee, spent from Wednesday until Friday of last week with their mother, Mrs. Milda Duvall. Mrs. Eugene Stewart and Bon of Columbia were additional guests Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. William LaBoube are the parents of a daughter born Sept. 5 at Fitzgibbon Hospital, Marshall. The baby weighed eight pounds, two ounces and has been given the name of Toni Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Eichman, Mrs. Dora Heim, Jr., Gayle and Lee, Pilot Grove, went to Fayette Sunday and attended vespers services at the chapel at Central College. Gayle, who was graduated by the high school at Nelson last May, will attend Central College this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hicks have moved from Brunswick to Blackwater and are living in the property of A. J. Widel known as the Holman place.

Striped College 4-H Elects New Officers

The Striped College 4-H elected these officers at the September meeting: Carolee Shirley, president; Leland Finley, vice-president; Mary Bohon, secretary-treasurer; Caroline Staley, reporter; Mary Eye, parliamentarian; Joan Leiter and Judy Hopkins, song leaders; Kim Dabner and Michael Riley, game leaders; and William Finley, council representative.

A letter of thanks was read from the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce for the club's help in constructing the State Fair float.

It was voted to give a program at the Sedalia Community Nursing Home on Sunday Sept. 15.

Kim Dabner, Carolee Shirley, and Don Eye were appointed on a committee to plan the club's local achievement day which is to be held at the Striped College school Sept. 13. Each member of the 4-H is expected to participate.

It was voted to have a halloween party Oct. 30. Margaret Bohon, Mary Eye, John Bohon, and Dale Hansen were appointed to plan the party.

Leland Finley showed two films: "Look Who's Driving" and "Snakes Can Be Interesting".

The hostesses, Mrs. Cecil Monsees, Mrs. Oliver Richwine, Mrs. S. G. Monsees, and Mrs. Kurman Riley served refreshments.

Old California Firm Will Be Dissolved

One of the oldest businesses in California, Mo. and the oldest in relation to management is going out of business. The Heyssel-Houser Mercantile Co. has long been one of the most prominent business establishments in the county. It was first established in 1864 by J. G. Ehrhardt, a grandfather of one of the present owners, B. F. Houser. The business has always been in the same building, which is presently owned by John W. Inglish of California, Mo.

Tony E. Heyssel and B. F. Houser, owners, have each been associated with the store for nearly 50 years and have been partners for 25 years.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., Sept. 19, 1957

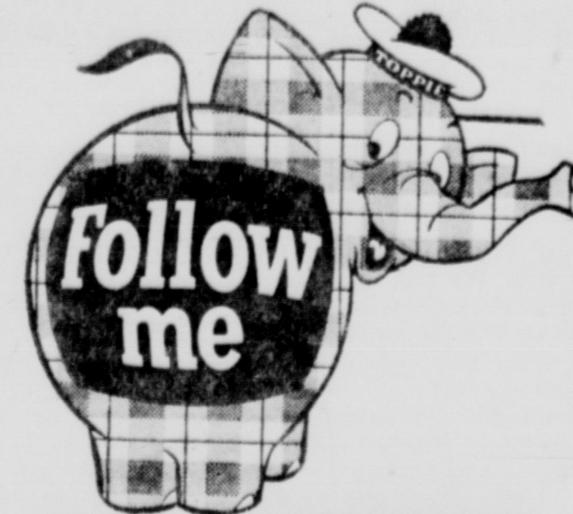

More than 90,000 miles of fishing streams and 2,250,000 acres of lands lie within national forest boundaries of the United States.

Ralph Eckles, Little Rock, Ark., returned to their homes after visiting their sister, Mrs. Boyd Suiter, and family.

"Von," "Van," or "De" originally was merely a preposition, literally meaning "of" or "from" and corresponds to the Dutch "van" or the "de" in French names.

Of the 388,000,000 people in India, only 6,000,000 are Christians.

Shortage of Pharmacists Could Be Health Problem

PHARMACIST AT WORK: Too few newcomers to relieve pinch.

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — An alarming shortage of pharmacists threatens the nation's health.

More miracle drugs are available than ever before. But there are not enough specialists on hand who know how to mix the prescriptions necessary for their distribution to the public.

And the number training for the job is too small to relieve this highly specialized manpower pinch.

An official for the National Association of Retail Druggists reveals the drop in pharmacy school enrollment as more than just a menace to drug store profits. George H. Frates says continued decrease in the number of pharmacists could cause a serious health hazard.

He warns that a shortage of pharmacists might let epidemics get completely out of hand. "There's one tested, time-honored manner of distributing medicine," Frates declares, "and that's from the manufacturer to the wholesale druggist to the retail pharmacist."

Every state reports a shortage of pharmacists. The majority complains this year's number of pharmacy school graduates will not fill its needs. And most of them don't expect an adequate enrollment increase for the next two years.

Druggists believe the cure for their problem lies in the country's high schools. They have worked up a publicity campaign prescribing pharmacy as a career.

So from now on druggists will compete with engineers and business men to recruit teen-agers. Representatives will give pharmacy the big build-up at student assemblies and PTA meetings. In addition to speeches, movies will be used to promote the business.

Store managers and employees, together with their families, from Liberty, Lexington, Warrensburg, Sedalia, Columbia, Moberly, Jefferson City, Slater. Safeway store managers, employees and guests met at 1 o'clock at Seminole court in the park, at which time a delicious fried chicken dinner was enjoyed. There were about 125 present for the occasion.

William Haupp, Kansas City, district manager, was a special guest.

At the conclusion of the meal, a number of games were played and the guests enjoyed visiting together.

State Saddle Clubs Invited to Roundup

All saddle clubs in the Missouri State Saddle Club Association have been invited to compete in the state roundup show Sunday, Sept. 22, at the coliseum at the state fair grounds.

The show will begin at 12:30 p.m. with introduction of clubs shown during the afternoon and evening program. There will be ribbons for five places and judging will be done by Bill Mack and Matt Ketchum. Marvin Sims, Carrollton, will be superintendent of the show and lunch will be served in the coliseum.

Druggists blame the military for a lot of their manpower problem. When graduates could be boasting the depleted pharmacists' ranks, they must spend at least two years in the armed forces.

Another factor is the rapid advances which the drug industry has made during recent years. As new medicines are invented, more specialists are needed to manufacture them. This in turn calls for additional retail pharmacists to handle prescriptions.

And the future already presents a problem which adds even more urgency to the high school campaign. In 1960 pharmacy students will have to spend five years in college instead of four before they can start to work.

And an even further extension of their training is expected at a later date.

Ohio Farmer Fights Wheat Quotas Set By Government

POISON IVY growing around his warning to federal farm agents draws chuckle from farmer John Donaldson (right) and visitor, editor E. E. Redies of New London (Ohio) Record.

By BILL MAHONEY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW LONDON, Ohio—(NEA)—Farmer John Donaldson has taken on the U.S. Government. "I won't recognize their authority," he says. "Their" refers to members of the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees (ASC).

Donaldson has twice been slapped with fines for overplanting his wheat allotments in 1956-57. He is awaiting a final word from a federal court in Toledo on the first fine of $204. The second fine is $322.56, set this year for allegedly exceeding his 11-acre allotment by 12 acres.

The basic feature of the Agriculture Act of 1938, which Donaldson wants repealed, is the imposition of marketing quotas against the threat of surpluses. "I'll take this case to the Supreme Court," Donaldson vows. "I raised that wheat for use on my own farm. Besides it's winter wheat, which is in short supply."

The 47-year-old Donaldson's roots are deep in this Midwest soil. His farm is a "firelands" grant acquired during the Revolutionary War when his ancestors were burned out of Connecticut by the British. He took over the farm in 1952. He's been a farmer since 1937.

Though he has a wife and four children, Donaldson doesn't feel he's going out on a limb in defying the government.

"I'm not alone," he says. "There are plenty of others—if they'd only stand up and be counted."

Donaldson is secretary of the Associated Farmers of Huron County, Inc. The organization opposes crop controls and draws on the Bible, Declaration of Independence and Constitution for its creed. It has 25-30 members.

Donaldson isn't alone as far as

Blue Ribbon Horses At Cole Camp Fair

Those showing blue ribbon horses at the Cole Camp Fair were: all purpose horse, John Heisterberg, Cole Camp; mare colt, Bockelman Brothers, Cole Camp; horse colt, Bockelman Brothers; draft horse, Lawrence Arnold, Fristoe; pair draft mares, Lawrence Arnold; team hitched to wagon, Lawrence Arnold; all purpose team, John Heisterberg; saddle horse, three years, Emmett Ruffin, Green Ridge; saddle horse, two years, Clarence Burke, Stover; saddle horse, one year, Emmett Ruffin; saddle horse colt, Bockelman Brothers and pleasure horse, Clarence Burke.

Ohio's Republican Sen. John W. Bricker is concerned.

Bricker wrote Donaldson that he is "very much interested in the steady growth of resistance to the wheat penalty section of the Agricultural Adjustment Act."

The state ASC calls Donaldson a "ringleader" in opposition to controls and "highly antagonistic" to them.

"I certainly am," says the tall, tanned farmer who served almost five years in the Army during World War II.

"I consider the ASC is prosecutor, judge and jury. We need the right of jury trial in these cases. We only want to farm in the American tradition: plant and harvest as we and nature see fit."

His farm is posted with signs warning ASC agents to stay off—poison ivy curled around the sign adds emphasis to Donaldson's feelings.

Donaldson is a member in planning shelter and survival kits. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Edwin Glaser. There were eight members and one guest present.

Mrs. Fred Inman and Mrs. David Inman.

Mrs. Jack Bratten was in charge of the meeting.
